

Consumer
Reports

How to Clean Practically Anything

Hundreds of timesaving solutions for all around the house

PLUS Super stain-removal guide

The Editors of Consumer Reports

A Special Publication from Consumer Reports

Director/Editor, Special Publications Andrea Scott
 Managing Editor Bette LaGow
 Project Editor Dennis Fitzgerald
 Art Director Allison Wilkes
 Illustrations Tony Persiani
 Special Publications Staff Mordeith Mergel, Jay Heath, Joan Davist

Consumer Reports

Vice President and Editorial Director Julia Kagan
 Editor/Senior Director Margot Slade
 Executive Editor/Associate Editorial Director Eileen Dervier
 Design Director, Consumers Union George Arthur
 Creative Director, Consumer Reports Tim LaPalma
 Director, Production Operations David Fox

Vice President and Technical Director Jeffrey A. Asher
 Testing Director, Chemical & Textiles Bert Papenburg
 Chemical & Textiles Division Edward Koppel, Edward Miller, Peter Mehnlein, Pat Slaven, Joan Muratore, E.A. Lopez, John McAloon, Charles Spatola, Richard Handel, Aminata Ndlaya, Li Wang
 Director, Appliances & Home Environment Mark Connelly
 Manager, Home Environment James Nanni
 Director, Electronics Evon Beckford
 Testing Director, Recreation & Home Improvement John Galeotafiore

Vice President, Multimedia Publishing John J. Sateja
 General Manager, Information Products Paige Amidon
 Product Manager, Special Publications Carol Lappin

Consumers Union

President James A. Guest
 Executive Vice President Joel Gartin

Senior Vice President, Technical Policy R. David Pittle

Produced by Roundtable Press, Inc.

Directors Julie Merberg, Marsha Melnick, Susan E. Meyer
 Editor John Glenn
 Editorial Assistant Sara Newberry
 Cover and Book Design Charles Kreloff

Banister image (cover) courtesy of Sierra Stair Co., Inc.
 Faucet image (cover) courtesy of Moen, Inc.

The cleaning and stain-removal methods in this book are based on texts in Consumer Reports magazine and other sources that we believe to be reliable. Although every effort has been made to assure the accuracy of cleaning methods, Consumers Union cannot—and does not—accept any legal responsibility for their application.

First Printing, February 2002

Copyright © 2002 by Consumers Union of the United States, Inc., Yonkers, N.Y. 10703.

Published by Consumers Union of the United States, Inc., Yonkers, N.Y. 10703.

All rights reserved, including the right of reproduction in whole or in part in any form.

ISBN: 0-89043-965-6

Manufactured in the United States of America.

You
Today

Eas
Simple
help

This
Monday
direct

Cle
From
can

BEST AVAILABLE COPY

be hand-washed carefully in cold water with a mild wool-washing product. Wools that can be machine-washed should be cleaned on a gentle cycle.

Turn a washable wool garment—one that does not contain mohair or angora—inside out before hand washing. Wash carefully in cold water with a mild wool-washing product. Do not wring wool items. Instead, lay hand-washed garments on a dry towel and then roll up the towel to remove excess moisture. Unroll the towel, remove the garment, and lay it flat to dry on a new towel so it will retain its shape.

Machine-washed garments should also be dried flat. They should be placed in a dryer only if the care label permits machine drying. However, you might want to forgo machine drying altogether. In CONSUMER REPORTS tests, machine drying damaged some sweaters made of machine-washable wool.

Don't press wool with a dry iron—use the wool/steam setting. To avoid an undesirable shine, iron the garment inside out or use a pressing cloth. (See General rules for ironing, page 235.)

Hand washing

Make sure that the bowl, bucket, or tub you're using is large enough to accommodate the clothing without having to jam it in. Fill it with water and make sure the washing product is completely dissolved. (To help you choose the right washing product, see Detergents for Hand-Washables, page 178.)

Lingerie, silk blouses, pantyhose. To gently agitate the items, bring the clothing to the surface, then drop it back into the water several times. Gently knead with your hands to help remove the dirt unless the care label advises against wringing or twisting. Rinse thoroughly until there is no sign of detergent. Add $\frac{1}{4}$ cup of white vinegar to the final rinse to remove any residue.

Drip-dry if possible or roll up in a clean, dry towel to remove

SPECIAL CLEANING ADVICE

BEST AVAILABLE COPY